

Help as an Expert at Helps

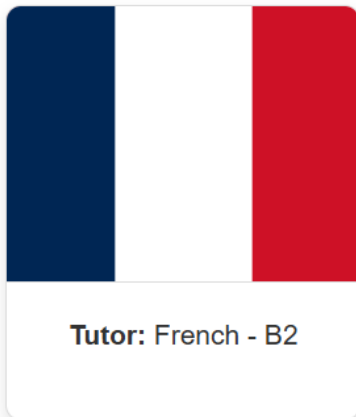

Helps Library combines AI and Experts for the Best Knowledge Experience

Helps = Human Expert Led Prompts

What is an expert at Helps: Anyone who knows something about a topic that AI doesn't. Experts have the private knowledge and humanness that LLMs lack.

How it works: Users can invite experts to join their chats. If you choose to join the chat, you will be shown as an expert participant. You can then help the users understand the topic with the benefit of your experience and perspective.

Chats: Helps chats are rooms that include an AI programmed to discuss a specific topic. Examples include tutors for college and adult learning, role-play for practicing scenarios, such as customer sales pitches or interviews, discussions of important issues and search chats for helping users find products and services.

Types of experts:

Volunteer: Offer your help without selling anything.

Commercial: Offer your help as a way to generate leads for the sale of your products or services.

Super Expert: Offer to join a chat for an upfront payment

Currently we are only supporting Volunteer Experts

How to start: Take a look at the site. Think about what topics you might want to help with. Contact Shane Hadden to learn more. When you are ready, we will do all the work to get you set up.
